

County Agent Notes

(By Boyd E. Wheeler)

Letcher County farmers are more interested in the 1932 Agriculture Conservation than they were in 1930. Work-sheets have been filled out for 70 new farms during the past three weeks, bringing the total to 529 for the County. So far the meetings have been well attended.

Approximately six hundred letters have been mailed out carrying information about the Program and meetings are being held convenient to every community in the County. So far the meetings have been well attended.

One Letcher County poultryman is changing his plans for last year. Last year he purchased his baby chicks in July. This year he had 200 baby chicks 5 weeks old that he expects to get eggs from early this fall and during the winter months when eggs are high priced. It more chicks were bought early we would find our Farm Poultry a more profitable farm enterprise.

Potato planting time will soon be here and many of us will be without seed. This is one year when we should insist on Certified seed potatoes. They cost approximately five more per 100 pounds and will be worth 10 times as much more than select seed.

Even certified potato seed should be tested for scab and scurf. This can be done very easily by two methods.

1. Standard Treatment—In a small wooden tub or crock (never metal of any kind) put 2 quarts of boiling water, and into it stir one ounce of corrosive sublimate until it is completely dissolved. Now, in a wooden tub or barrel, preferably with a bung hole so it may be emptied, and whose capacity is at least 15 gallons, put 7 gallons of water, and to it add the dissolved corrosive sublimate, stirring thoroughly.

2. Quick-Dip Treatment—As its name implies, this may save time. As in the other, corrosive sublimate is the material, but muriatic acid is added to give it speed. The directions are: In a wooden or crockery ware container, put 2 quarts of water, not necessarily heated and stir into it one ounce of muriatic acid. Then add one ounce of corrosive sublimate and stir until it is completely dissolved. It will be found that the addition of the acid will hurry up the dissolving.

Next, in a 15 gallon wooden barrel or tub, put 7 gallons of water, add the dissolved corrosive sublimate and stir thoroughly. Into the treating solution pour enough potatoes until the top ones are just covered and leave five minutes. Remove them, and put in a second lot, again for five minutes, and a third and a fourth, each for five minutes.

The solution may be brought back to usable strength by adding acid and corrosive sublimate, but in half-quantities one quart of water, 1.2 ounces of muriatic acid and 1.2 ounces of corrosive sublimate, following the same procedure as when the solution was first made. Also water should be added to the solution to bring it to its original level. This reinforced solution may be used for treating 3 lots of potatoes successively each, and it may be re-used again and used on 3 lots more, by simply adding water. The solution now having been used

I Want Sick Folks To Know

That Scalf's Indian River Tonic Has Done Wonders For Me

Mrs. Margaret Reeves, Fort Smith, Ark., says: "I suffered from indigestion, nervous and dizziness. I could not sleep. I would lose my appetite and have smothering spells. My skin was broken out, the itching and pain was agony. I could not find relief. I finally tried Scalf's Indian River Tonic and I have been better. I am still using it. My skin has healed, the bloating and smothering has left me, and I am eating and sleeping fine. I feel like a different woman. I want sick folks to know about Scalf's Indian River Tonic. It has done wonders for me, and many others I know about."

See your druggist today. Scalf's Indian River Tonic sells for $1.00 per bottle everywhere.

rows, in a strip 12 to 15 inches wide at the rate of one pound 7 pcf 788 running feet of row. The fertilizer should be dropped in with a hoe.

So much for the preparation of the garden spot; gardeners will do well to be to their tools, and to consider seriously the purchase of a good garden plow or hoe, for this implement can be made to save its purchase price several times each year. Tastes differ, but the writer prefers a single-wheel, low-wheel type, fitted with cultivator teeth interchangeable with the scuffle hoe or beet knife attachments. In fact, the latter attachment, alone, will do everything that need be done in cultivating any crop in the garden.

The above directions apply when only small lots of potatoes are to be treated. In working with large quantities of seed, larger containers such as 50 gallon barrels with 12 1/2 gallons of solution should be used, but always made at the rate of 1 ounce of corrosive (and 1 ounce of acid, for the "quick-dip") to each 12 1/2 gallons of water.

The above directions assume that the potatoes are to be treated loose, for this saves materials, one ounce of corrosive sublimate sufficing for 12 1/2 gallons of water. In the case of the "quick-dip" and reinforcing, 6 bushels and a peck. If potatoes are to be treated in their sacks more solution is needed to cover depending on the size of the sacks. It is the treating solution container.

Have A Home Garden This Year

(By John S. Gardener, Kentucky College of Agriculture)

This is the time of year to begin looking to the making of plans for the 1937 home garden. To those persons who have been growing their own vegetables, it is not news that this is a most wholesome practice in any year, but even to these it should be pointed out that, with high food prices now prevailing and these bidding fair to continue well into the summer, a home garden this year will be of especial value.

Also, besides alleviating food-bug difficulties, a home garden furnishes vegetables of freshness and quality impossible to find even in the best markets.

To those persons who have ground space, but who have not been making it their practice to have a garden, may we paraphrase the slogan, "ask any man who has had one." Newcomers into the home gardening fraternity are assured they will find it advantageous and pleasurable, too, to raise their own vegetables.

The secret of producing quality vegetables is to grow them quickly. This calls for moisture a plenty, and for high fertility. The first requirement is met by turning under vegetable matter to decay and thus render the soil spongy.

The best material for this purpose is stable manure, but where this cannot be had in adequate quantity, tree leaves, lawn clippings, composted vegetable tops and even weeds may be used. Good, too, is to turn under a coat of soil, preferably including legume, or a cover crop of rye, wheat or barley. In fact, a sod or a cover crop serve the extra purpose of having conserved plant food that would otherwise have been lost through winter soil-washing, and thus becomes, in a way, fertilizer as well as soil conditioner.

In order to make sure that break down will have progressed to the proper degree, the matter should be turned under at least a month before actual gardening is to be begun. In level gardens, even earlier breaking is advised; even though conditions are quiet wet, no harm will result provided through freezing follows.

The fertility requirements for vegetables are partly met where manure is used, but always phosphorus should be applied in conjunction, and, for the early plantings of cabbage, radishes and lettuce, and sometimes onions, commercial nitrogen should be used as side-dressings. Where the humus material is anything else than manure, the vegetables' fertility needs must be met with complete commercial fertilizer, such as 3-8-6, 4-8-8 or 5-10-5.

The way to apply phosphorus is to broadcast 20 percent superphosphate at the rate of 100 pounds per quarter acre, just before the land is gone over for the last time. Thus, it will be worked into the soil at vegetable root depth. Complete fertilizer is broadcast a few days previous to planting. The rate of application is one pound per 50 square feet of garden space, or to conserve it, may be sown down the

Jenkins High School (Bessie Riddle)

Bake Sale A Success

The Senior class of Jenkins High School sponsored a Bake Sale in each of the four towns of the district, Jenkins, McRoberts, Burdine, and Dunham. All those people who bought at these Bake Sales are saying "yum-yum" yet I am sure. Due to the hard work of the members of the class and their cooperation with one another and the parents the Sale was a huge success. The total amount taken in exceeded seventy dollars. ($70.) The Senior class will tell of such incidents as a certain teacher of Jenkins High giving $1.00 for a single piece of candy. The Senior class wishes to express their sincerest appreciation for the splendid way in which the people cooperated with them in their project.

Pikeville Male Quartet Entertains Student Assembly

The students of Jenkins High School enjoyed thoroughly the program presented to them by the Pikeville College Male Quartet. The students showed their appreciation with a very astounding applause. Besides the numbers by the Quartet there was a couple of piano solos, by another student of the college. I'm sure that each and every student wishes to extend their thanks to those college students and their sponsors for the enjoyable program.

Cavaliers Meet Another Defeat

The Jenkins Cavaliers met another defeat last week when they played Clintwood. The resulting score was Clintwood 15-Jenkins 10. But the student body is assured that their team will be in fine shape for the tournament.

Results Of Debates Are Encouraging

On Monday, February 22 the affirmative team had a debate with Hazard, which they won. On Thursday, February 23 the negative team tried their luck, when they debated with Pikeville. This debate they won but on Friday much to our sorrow and their too, they were defeated by Paintsville. But, nevertheless our debaters seem to be getting along splendidly with their argumental talent. Those members of the negative team are Pearl Childers and Madge Isom.

Caps, Gowns Have Been Ordered

The Seniors have been finding out just how many chest they have, how tall they are and how big a head they have in order to order their caps and gowns. Those caps and gown orders, invitations and such make graduation seem just a little bit closer and another thrill in the life of a Senior.

Benefit Payments For Adapted Seed

A notice from Washington, relayed through the college of Agriculture at Lexington, says that no practice payments will be made in the farm program where red clover and alfalfa seed from foreign countries other than Canada, is used. Seed from foreign countries, with the exception of Canada, is not considered adapted to Kentucky condition, and hence will not call for the practice payments of $2.50 an acre for alfalfa and $2 an acre for clover.

For many years the Kentucky college of Agriculture has been urging farmers to use adapted seed only. It points out that all of the red clover for which practice payments will be made is not well adapted to Kentucky conditions and suggests that farmers select their clover seed even more carefully as regards origin than is required by the rules of the farm program.

Red Clover seed produced within the state, and known to fit local conditions, is considered best. Seed from the southern part of the clover belt, that is, not farther north than middle Ohio, is usually adapted to Kentucky conditions. If that cannot be had, then seed from northern states and Canada is preferred to that from western states.

Alfalfa seed produced in the region from Kansas north, with the exception of the Pacific Coast, is recommended for Kentucky.

The law requires that unadapted alfalfa contain seed stained red, purple red, orange red or green.

Our Thought For This Week

"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful.
But his delight is in the law of the Lord, and in His law doth he meditate day and night.

What About Letcher County?

We carry on another page of this weeks Mountain Eagle a news item calling attention to the work to be done in the several counties of the seventh district through Federal aid. This is all road work and is to be handled through the State Highway Department. Well we wonder just what is the matter that Letcher County cannot receive its just share of thorough work allotted to this district?

Can it be that the State Highway Department has not been sufficiently convinced that Letcher County roads need repairs? Or can it be that the powers that be in our state government still feel that the contrary policy of this county have not done penance enough for their stand against the autocratic handling of affairs of State? Whatever the reason might be it seems strange that we still sit here and do nothing about the work that should be coming into our county.

Poor Old Kentucky

(Editor's Note) We are indebted to Ada Ramp Walden of Augusta, Georgia, for the following piece of literature. We publish it only to show how far some newspapers will go in order to fill up space. This piece was originally printed in the Martin (Texas) Democrat some 35 years ago. Following its publication there, it has been republished quite frequently through the south.)

POOR OLD KENTUCKY

From Martin (Texas) Democrat.
Man born in the mountains of Kentucky is of Feud days and full of virtue. He fuseseth, fiddleth, cusseth and fidgeth all the days of his miserable life.

He shunneeth water as a mad dog and drinketh much mean whiskey. When he desireth to raise him a planteth a neighbor, and lo! he reapeth 20 fold. He riseth ever from the cradle to seek the scalp of his grandfathers enemy, and bringeth home in his carcass the amputation of his wife's neighbor's wife's cousin's father-in-law, who avengeth the deed.

Yea, verily his life is uncertain and he knows not the hour when he may be jerked hence.

He goeth forth on a journey half shot and cometh back on a shutter-shot.

He riseth in the night to let the cat out, and it taketh nine doctors three days to pick the buckshot out of him.

He goeth forth in joy and gladness and cometh back in scraps and fragments.

A cyclone bloweth him into the bosom of his neighbor's wife and his neighbor's wife's husband bloweth him into Abraham's bosom before he hath time to explain.

He emptieth a demijohn into himself and a shotgun into his enemy, and his enemy's son lieth in wait for him on election day, and lo! the corner plougheth up a 40-acre field to bury the remains of that man.

Woe, woe is Kentucky, and her eyes are red with whiskey, and her soul is stained with blood of innocent slainmen.

An Interview With Uncle Henry

By W. L. STALLARD

Uncle Henry says that he has been a voter for sixty-one years. I was born and grew up almost in sight of Whitesburg. I can truthfully say that the roads are more dangerous to travel today than at any time I can remember.

Too many citizens are saying, "It's none of my business what the other fellow does just so he doesn't bother me." They're absolutely wrong. Who's supposed to run this country? I'm inclined to believe it's everybody's business what the other fellow does. I believe also that something should be advocated, and not merely advocated, but put into action, that will cause men who willingly violate the laws, to fear. Fifty and sixty years ago most men feared to shoot on the road near the homes. They feared to holler and use vulgar and indecent language on the road and in the presence of women and children. I live right where I have always lived and it is almost daily now. I know I didn't hear it so often then. If anything is being done to prevent it, I'm unable to find out. I do know that it continually goes on.

Fifty years ago the citizens of this section really stood and even fought for law and order. They didn't always have it, but they stood for it just the same. I could mention the names of some who were shipped out of here in goods boxes. If they didn't fear why did they practice such secrecy? They did fear. They feared the courts, and perhaps more so, the citizens.

The Governors have since made life sentences more rather than fines. Life sentences are the cheapest thing that we have to offer today. The crimes of Beck Taylor, Tait Hall and Evans Hobson were no worse than what has been happening in this state since they were tried and hung. They swung to the end of a rope. But where are those who have been convicted for the past twenty-five years swinging? Many who read this will know about them and now, I'm not talking just to be heard. I'm sorry that such comparisons are true. But they are true, and you who are old enough to remember will say so.

I'm not saying that our present officials aren't doing all they can to maintain peaceful conditions in our country. I believe they are trying. But they do not have the cooperation of all the citizens, therefore they are mightily handicapped. Society, citizenship of this country, are all guilty and must share the blame for the wave of lawlessness and crime that has been existing in this section so long. Every body knows, to hear 'em talk, what should be done. They talk mightily about it, but talk cannot curb it. Talk doesn't do anything. Fifty years ago the so called law abiding citizens had a willingness to act as well as talk. Where are our law abiding citizens today? I claim that citizens who observe law violations without making a complaint or an effort to see that the offenders are brought to a speedy trial aren't law abiding citizens. By such actions they may rightly be termed equally yoked with those who willfully violate the laws.

Citizens of Letcher county, you are the offspring of my playmates and acquaintances of more than 60 years ago. Are you going to turn this country over to those coming after you in worse shape than it was when you received it? Won't you consider for a moment, if no longer, and raise high the torch that your ancestors handed to you? I may be old, but I'm ready to join you.

HOME UNSURPASSED FOR CHILD TRAINING

The home is an unsurpassed medium for teaching many things that children need to know, in child care and training, the main thing is to start early enough. Sometimes parents seem to go on the assumption that only when the child starts to school does he become capable of learning. In actual fact the child's education was started when he was old enough to see, hear, feel and smell things with which he came in contact. This point of view is explained to University of Kentucky students by Miss Mary Mumford, assistant professor of home economics and in charge of the university nursery school.

During the child's very early years, there are many things he can learn to do that develop judgment, poise and muscle control. Boys, as well as girls take a quick interest in kitchen devices such as food grinders and orange squeezers. Putting the parts together and screwing the instrument on the table top will be a challenge to their constructive powers. It will take a little time for the child to understand the whole process but soon the mother can ask him to grind food and get a successful response. At three years of age, children like especially to play in water. With a rubber apron on and standing securely on a stool far removed from the stove, the three-year-old can learn to wash dishes in warm, soapy water.

Children take delight in baking, and they can come to do it well if they are taught patiently. Six and eight-year-olds can cook eggs and make toast, and after they have learned to follow a recipe baking powder biscuits are a possibility.

List Payments In 1937 Farm Program
LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 18—A statement issued at the university of Kentucky college of Agriculture calls the attention of farmers to ways in which they can cooperate in the agriculture conservation program this year.

In brief, farmers can receive payment for diverting soil depleting crops to soil-conserving crops, and for the use of soil building practices. Burley tobacco growers will be paid 5 cents a pound for the estimated yield on land diverted to other crops, up to 25 percent of their tobacco base. Dark tobacco growers will receive 3 1/2 cents a pound up to 30 percent of the base, and cotton growers 5 cents a pound up to 35 percent of the base. About $9 an acre will be paid for changing general soil depleting crops to soil conserving crops.

Under soil building practices farmers will receive 75 cents for 100 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate used, and $1.50 a ton for limestone applied.

Items of Interest to the Housewife

Two or three slices of bacon placed on top of a liver loaf during baking adds to the flavor.

Don't use any kind of artificial heat for drying stockings. Hang by the toes in an airy place to dry and don't fold away damp.

The stock left from cooked spinach makes a valuable addition to vegetable soup.

A pinch of alum added to the water when washing blue or green articles of clothing will prevent the colors from running.

A tablespoonful of vinegar will soften glue that has become hardened in a bottle.

Wash sweaters on a windy day, then put in a pillow case or twine bag and hang out to dry. Shake often until dry. All knit or crocheted articles should be dried in this way if you want them to keep their shape.

Ice box cookie dough can be packed in pound butter cartons, loaf pans or small bowls, or it can be shaped into rolls 2 inches in diameter and wrapped in waxed paper. The dough should be chilled 24 hours or longer and then cut into thin slices using a sharp knife dipped frequently in cold water.

Press woollens the right side up with a woolen pressing cloth. Apply moisture to muslin cloth on top of wool and press with hot iron.

Oatmeal on a dampened cloth is excellent for cleaning white paint.

Never fasten suspenders below the reinforced hems of stockings. Wash stockings with lukewarm lather and squeeze out gently—they'll ladder if they are wrung.

Pungency and wateriness are two accusations often leveled against the turnip. The latter may be overcome by careful draining, the former by the use of a little butter. This is a great softener of the turnip's flavor. The vegetable should not be peeled thinly. There is a noticeable ring to be seen in its flesh some little way in from the outside.
